Nominations must be approved by a 2/3 majority of all faculty in a unit holding GFS, the Dean of the college, and the Dean of The Graduate School. Nominations should be submitted using Form GFS-1 available from The Graduate School and be accompanied by an up to date curriculum vitae.

DEFINITION OF GRADUATE FACULTY STATUS

Membership in the graduate faculty authorizes faculty to teach all graduate-level courses, to sit on all graduate-level committees, to Chair all graduate student thesis and dissertation committees, and to participate fully in all components of graduate education, research, and service. Limitation or removal of any of these authorizations from individual GFS faculty is delegated to the unit-level authority where such assignments are made.

NOMINATION CRITERIA FOR GRADUATE FACULTY STATUS

Subject to consideration of special circumstances, minimum qualifications area:

1. An earned terminal degree (Ph. D. or M.F.A.) or equivalent professional recognition in the area of teaching and of thesis and/or dissertation supervision
2. Proven expertise in the teaching area.

LIMITATIONS ON GRADUATE PROGRAM ACTIVITY

For service as Major Professor for Master of Fine Art (M.F.A.) Thesis committees; a faculty member must meet the following minimum criteria:

1. Graduate faculty status (GFS)
2. Rank of either Associate Professor or Full Professor, or rank of Assistant Professor with a successful third-year review; to be Chair of thesis committee

These authorizations are: 1) to teach graduate-level courses, 2) to serve as a member of master's and/or doctoral committees, and 3) to Chair Masters (M.F.A.) Thesis committees.

Appendix C. Guidelines for Promotion and Tenure

Department of Art Promotion and Tenure Guidelines

Introduction: General Promotion and Tenure Information and University Guidelines
The basic criteria for promotion and tenure in the Department of Art are the three traditional areas of expertise: teaching, research and/or creative activity, and service. Each of these areas must be supported by documentation, and each may be assessed for quality and quantity.

The Department's Promotion and Tenure Committee (see Article 4, Section 2, B.) In accordance with the regulations of the Florida State University, The School of Visual Arts and Dance, and The Department of Art, this committee shall make recommendations to the proper University committees and officers concerning members of the department eligible for promotion and/or tenure. Faculty members do not apply for promotion and tenure. (see Faculty Handbook, Section 5, <http://facultyhandbook.fsu.edu/section5.html#s5a6>)

Annual Reviews: A subcommittee of the Art Department's Promotion and Tenure Committee, consisting of all full professors serving on the Promotion and Tenure committee, shall meet each year to evaluate the progress towards tenure and/or promotion of all faculty members below the rank of tenured full professor.

Third Year Review: Tenure earning faculty members going up for their Second-Year and Fourth-year Reviews must work with the department chair and staff to compile a binder documenting professional accomplishments to date (no outside letters required). The binder will be reviewed by both departmental and CVATD Promotion and Tenure committees.

Although the period of time in a given rank is normally five years, demonstrated merit, not years of service, shall be the guiding factors. Promotion shall not be automatic, nor may it be regarded as guaranteed upon completion of a given term of service. Professional conduct in all areas of responsibility is essential for any promotion. Early promotion is possible where there is sufficient justification. Promotion to Associate Professor and tenure may be sought concurrently.

The particular format and documentation requirements of a candidate's nomination binder may vary from year to year, but the substance of the criteria for promotion and tenure will not change. Each candidate must work with the department chair and staff to compile a completed binder documenting his/her professional achievements in compliance with currently established requirements. The binder must be submitted in a timely fashion to meet the Fall Promotion and Tenure schedule, which commences early in September with the meeting of the departmental Promotion and Tenure Committee. Documents cannot be added or removed after the folder goes to the School of Visual Arts Promotion and Tenure Committee's final meeting.

For complete details regarding procedures, appeals, time frame, and suggested guidelines for preparation of the binder consult: The Florida State University Faculty Handbook as well as (for revisions and up-dates) the most recent annual Memorandum from the Dean of Faculties re: "Promotion and Tenure Process."

I. Art Department Guidelines for Promotion and Tenure

In addition to the University criteria, faculty in the Department of Art must meet the below listed criteria. These criteria will be assessed relative to the departmental Assignment of Responsibility.

- A. Criteria for promotion for non-tenure track faculty, includes an MFA Degree or exceptional comparable professional experience. Promotion shall be based on recognition of demonstrated competency in teaching and service, and, in the area of creativity, activity on a national level.
 1. Teaching: see criteria for teaching competency below.
 2. Service: is based on both demonstrated competency and Assignment of Responsibility (AOR) percentage.
 3. Research/Creativity: is based on both demonstrated competency and Assignment of Responsibility (AOR) percentage assigned.

- B. Criteria for promotion from Assistant Professor to Associate Professor, includes an MFA Degree or exceptional comparable professional experience. Promotion shall be based on recognition of demonstrated competency in teaching and service, and, in the area of creativity, activity on a national level.
 1. Teaching: See Appendix D, Section A: Teaching in the Department of Art
 2. Service: See Appendix D, Section C: Service Requirements in the Department of Art
 3. Research/Creativity: See Appendix D, Section B: Research/Creative Activity in the Department of Art

- B. Criteria for promotion from Associate Professor to Full Professor are superior teaching, superior service to the Department and the University, and research/creative accomplishments of high quality as recognized by one's peers inside and outside the University.
 1. Teaching: See Appendix D, Section A: Teaching in the Department of Art
 2. Service: See Appendix D, Section C: Service Requirements in the Department of Art
 3. Research/Creativity: See Appendix D, Section B: Research/Creative Activity in the Department of Art

- C. Tenure criteria include all of the requirements for promotion to the rank of Associate Professor: excellence in teaching and advising, a high degree of professional standing in the chosen discipline, with an emphasis on service to the Department. Tenure may be granted based on the contribution an individual can be expected to make to the needs of the Department, the College and University, based on meritorious service during the past five years. A majority vote by all tenured faculty is necessary to show confidence and professional respect with regard to the candidate's capacity to exceed and not merely meet assigned responsibilities. In this respect, tenure criteria are different from that of promotion to Associate Professor.

II. Guidelines for the Peer Review

For promotion and tenure three outside letters of evaluation requested by the department chair are required. The candidate should have some role in selecting evaluators of his or her work. The letters must come from full Professors tenured at institutions outside Florida State University, unless it can be justified in writing by the chair that the writers have equivalent national standing. No letters from inside the University are to be included. The most significant criteria of the review would be to answer the question- "would this candidate be eligible for promotion and/or tenure at the reviewer's university?"

Because the letters should be reflective of the candidate's professional standing, faculty members who are visual artists and designers may be better evaluated by other professionals in the field such as museum curators or gallery directors of significant national standing. The reviewers are asked to offer their professional judgment about the competency and significance of the individual's work as it relates to the discipline of art and/or design. Refer to the faculty handbook for guidelines on the relationship of candidates to letter writers.

III. Eligibility Requirements

The three areas of teaching, scholarly and/or creative activity and service are all evaluated separately using different criteria and instruments of measure according to the candidates assignments of responsibility. The candidate must meet the requirements in each category to be eligible for promotion or tenure. Typically, candidates should only submit information from the last ten years. However, if the candidate has something of merit that occurred beyond ten years, they may request that the promotion and tenure committee allow it to be included.

IV. Specialized Faculty Promotion Guidelines

A. Promotion Criteria

All Specialized Faculty promotion decisions shall take into account:

1. Annual evaluations.
2. Annual assignment of responsibility (AOR).
3. Fulfillment of the department/unit written promotion criteria in relation to the assignment in the supervisor's letter. (All departments/units must have written promotion criteria and procedures for all applicable Specialized Faculty available in the department/unit, posted on a single publicly accessible University Web site, and on file in the Office of the Vice President for Faculty Development and Advancement.)
4. Evidence of sustained effectiveness relative to opportunity and according to assignment in the supervisor's letter.
5. All actions are effective the beginning of the next academic year.

Teaching Faculty promotion decisions shall take into account:

1. Evidence of well-planned and delivered courses.

2. Summaries of data from Student Perceptions of Teaching (SPOT) or Student Perception of Courses and Instructors (SPCI).
3. Letters from faculty members who have conducted peer evaluations of the candidate's teaching.

2. Other instructional support activities, such as instructional innovation, involvement in curriculum development, authorship of educational materials, and participation in professional organizations.

Research Faculty or Curator track promotions shall take into account:

1. Scholarly or creative accomplishments of high quality, appropriate to the field, in the form of books and peer-reviewed scholarly publications.
2. Success in obtaining external funding, as principal investigator or co-principal investigator on grants.
3. Recognized standing in the discipline and profession, as attested to by letters from outstanding scholars outside the university.
6. Other research-related activities, such as chapters in books, articles in refereed and non-refereed professional journals, musical compositions, exhibits of paintings and sculpture, works of performance art, papers presented at meetings of professional societies, reviews, and research and creative activity that has not yet resulted in publication, display, or performance.

6. Evidence of commitment to the service concerns of the University or the community.

B. Ranks

1. Promotion in the specialized faculty ranks is attained through meritorious performance of assigned duties in the faculty member's present position.
2. Promotion to the second rank in each track shall be based on recognition of demonstrated effectiveness in the areas of assigned duties.
3. Promotion to the third rank in each track shall be based on recognition of superior performance in the areas of assigned duties.

C. Promotion Process

1. Recommendations for promotion begin with the faculty member's supervisor and are submitted to the appropriate officials for review.
2. The supervisor may not withhold a faculty member's materials from review should the faculty member wish to be considered.
3. Each department considers all faculty members who are eligible for promotion each year. Although the period of time in a given rank is normally five years, demonstrated merit, not years of service, is the guiding factor. Promotion shall not be automatic nor may it be regarded as guaranteed upon completion of a given term of service. Early promotion is possible where there is sufficient justification.
4. Specialized faculty members who have been assigned an administrative code shall be subject to the normal promotion criteria and procedures for the applicable rank. They may not substitute performance of their administrative duties for qualifications in teaching or research. The duty assignments of such employees shall accord them an opportunity to meet the criteria for promotion; however, the number of years it takes a faculty member to meet the criteria in teaching or research and scholarly accomplishments may be lengthened by reduced duty assignments in those areas; the number of years over which such accomplishments are spread shall not be held against the faculty member when the promotion case is evaluated.
5. All faculty members are informed of their prospective candidacy by their supervisor. If they wish to proceed, they also have an opportunity to assist in preparing their binder prior to review. The faculty member shall have the right to review the contents of the promotion binder and may attach a brief response to any material therein. Once the departmental committee has reviewed a binder, no material may be added to it or deleted from it except under the conditions specified in the Collective Bargaining Agreement under Articles 14 and 15.
6. The promotion committee for specialized faculty must include one or more peers (i.e., non-tenure track and/or specialized faculty). The promotion committee of the department/unit reviews the binders of prospective candidates in that department, recommends action on the nomination of each candidate by secret vote, and prepares a report of the committee's recommendations. Specialized faculty do not review binders of tenure track or tenured faculty candidates, unless the unit's bylaws allow that process.
7. Each department/unit has one committee, elected by the faculty according to the process defined in the bylaws of the department/unit, which is charged with the responsibility of reviewing the records of all prospective candidates for promotion in that department/unit and recommending action on the nomination of each candidate. If a department/unit has fewer than 10 faculty members, and the bylaws of the department do not provide for a faculty committee for review of promotions, the faculty of the department/unit shall be combined with similarly situated departments/units determined by the President or designee to elect a joint faculty committee.

8. In addition to the departmental committee, the department chair (or equivalent administrator) independently reviews the binders of all prospective candidates in that department and recommends action on the nomination of each candidate by submitting to the dean a report of the departmental committee recommendations and the chair's recommendations on all submitted binders.
9. Prospective candidates will be informed of the results of the recommendations at each level of review. A candidate may withdraw his or her file from consideration within five working days of being informed of the results of the consideration at a given level. If a candidate chooses to withdraw, he or she must notify in writing, through the chair and dean, the Office of the Vice President for Faculty Development and Advancement.
10. Once the departmental committee and department chair have reviewed the binder, the applicable director, dean, or vice president considers these recommendations, independently reviews the binders, and then submits his or her advice regarding whether the candidate meets the appropriate promotion criteria to the Office of the Vice President for Faculty Development and Advancement.
11. The dean may place a letter of evaluation on the record of achievement as reflected in the binder.
12. The bylaws of a college/unit may also institute a faculty committee to review all Specialized Faculty promotions within the college/unit.
13. The Office of the Vice President for Faculty Development and Advancement confirms that the candidate meets the eligibility requirements and then forwards its recommendation to the Provost or Vice President for Research.
14. The Provost or Vice President for Research considers the previous recommendations, independently reviews the binders, and then forwards his or her recommendation to the President for a final decision.

D. Promotion Binder

Promotion binders for all Specialized Faculty shall include:

1. Professional vita
2. Assigned duties
3. Annual evaluations
4. Chair/supervisor's annual letter of appraisal toward promotion
5. Letters of recommendation
6. May also include evidence of the other considerations specified in department/unit promotion criteria

Promotion binders for all faculty with teaching assignments shall include:

1. A list of courses taught since appointment to the rank from which being considered for promotion, with the percentage of effort assigned, enrollment, and grade distribution for each course.
2. A summary of the results of the polls of student perceptions of teaching shall also be included for each course.

Promotion binders for all teaching track faculty shall include:

Promotion binders for faculty members in the Research Support track shall include:

1. Two or three letters from faculty members, besides the department/unit chair, who have reviewed the faculty member's service in support of research.

Department of Art: Merit Pay Guidelines
General Merit Pay Criteria

The basic criteria for Merit Pay in the Department of Art are the three traditional areas of expertise: teaching, research and/or creative activity, and service. It should be understood that satisfactory performance is expected from all faculty members and is in itself not considered for merit. Available merit raises shall be awarded on the basis of excellent performance in accordance with assignment of responsibilities.

Documentation

Each of these areas must be supported by documentation and each will be assessed for quality and quantity. Annual evaluations for merit will be based on an up-to-date curriculum vitae in the format of the FSU CV database, syllabi and SPOT reports for all classes taught, and the Faculty Annual Self Assessment Form. The Faculty Development Committee will review this information using the appropriate rubric and make recommendations to the Chair. The deadline for information will be February 15th of each year (This information covers 1 January – 31 December each year.).

Assignment and Evaluation by Chairperson

Assignments of responsibility (AOR) are based on the appropriate areas of teaching, service and research/creative activity. Merit pay evaluation must be consistent with these assigned duties. Responsibilities should be listed as a percentage of total contractual time spent in the respective areas. Each faculty member shall be notified of his/her assignment of responsibilities by the beginning of each academic year.

Eligibility Requirements

A. Teaching in the Department of Art

Excellence in teaching is recognized as one of the major criterion for faculty evaluation and advancement. Teaching and advising at both the undergraduate and graduate levels are included in this category.

Evaluation

Standard criteria for teaching effectiveness include subject matter expertise, active, participatory contributions to BFA/MFA reviews, new course development and re-development of existing course.

Evidence of Teaching

The standard materials submitted include:

General Teaching expectations, by rank

Non-Tenure Track faculty members at all ranks are expected to contribute to the development of new courses, deepen their teaching practice through inventive assignments and student work displays, and participate regularly in MFA and BFA reviews according to their individual annual Assignment of Responsibility.

An Assistant Professor is expected to contribute to the development of new courses, deepen his/her teaching practice through inventive assignments and student work displays, and participate regularly in MFA and BFA reviews. Any semester prior to going up for Promotion and Tenure, a course release may be negotiated with the Chair.

An Associate Professor is expected to contribute to the development of new multi-course curricula and special programs, and play a leading role in MFA and BFA reviews, including chairing committees where appropriate, and to continue to expand on his/her teaching practice through inventive assignments and students work displays, and participate regularly in MFA and BFA reviews.

A Full Professor, in addition to the above stated responsibilities is expected to actively contribute to the development of programs or focus areas where appropriate and play a leading role in MFA and BFA reviews, including chairing committees.

B. Research/Creative Activity in the Department of Art

Research in the Department of Art is evidenced in the form of creative activity, i.e. in the production of works of art and/or design in a broad range of mediums as well as scholarly research and publication by faculty members in their capacity as professional working artists/designers.

Evaluation

Standard criteria for research/creative activity effectiveness includes but is not limited to exhibitions, publications, curatorial projects and scholarly presentations.

Evidence of research

Evidence of research may include:

1. One-person exhibitions
2. Group exhibitions
3. Museum collections
4. Grants, residencies and fellowships

8. Reviews, citations, works illustrated.
9. Media coverage
10. Curatorial activities.
11. Jurying of shows, book reviews.

General Criteria for Research/Creative Activity by Rank:

An Assistant Professor is expected to be working to further his/her artistic practice and professional activity moving it from a regional/state to a national level.

An Associate Professor is expected to be working to attain national/international recognition each year, including solo exhibitions at galleries of recognized professional standing, and/or evidence of professional activity at the national/international level in the creative/professional areas listed above.

A Full Professor is expected to be working to broaden their national/international recognition each year, including solo exhibitions at galleries and museums of recognized professional standing, and/or evidence of major projects at the national/international level in the creative/professional areas listed above.

C. Service Requirements

Meritorious service at the departmental level constitutes particular excellence and achievement in performing normal service responsibilities, as well as any productive support provided for the operations of the department, college, university and national/local community outreach.

Evaluation

Standard criteria for effectiveness in service refers to activities in one of the following categories: 1) professional or academic associations, 2) department, college, university service, and 3) public or community service.

Evidence of Service may include

1. Active participation, including leadership roles, in professional associations nationally and internationally.
2. Active participation in committees at the department, college and university levels.
3. Participating on other institutional activities such as major student/faculty openings, fundraising events, awards events, acting as the Graduation Representative for the department or School to University, etc.
4. Service to community on the basis of art/design expertise, in educational settings, and in other civic or humanitarian activities that enhance the visual environment or protect the health, safety, and well being of the public.

General Criteria for Service by Rank:

An Assistant Professor is expected to serve on at least two departmental committees and seek opportunities for modest university or community service. Any semester prior to going up for Promotion and Tenure, a service release may be negotiated with the Chair.

An Associate Professor is expected to be working at a higher level of service, including two departmental committees, one College committee, University committee or working group. Some service to the profession or community outreach is also expected for this rank.

A Full Professor is expected to serve on at least two departmental committees, and one college or university committee. Greater departmental, college, university, professional, and community service is expected for this rank. Service as a program director or area head, chairing a committee, and helping with facilities planning are examples.

D. Evaluation Procedure

It should be stressed, especially with regard to both creativity/research and service that the principle tool of evaluation in the art world is peer review. It is therefore essential that the Faculty Development Committee as a whole review and discuss each faculty member's binder and provide a written review of their findings. However, by university policy, no evaluation process shall require a forced distribution of evaluation of ratings. Therefore, a faculty member can request a meeting with the chair to discuss annual evaluations for feedback.
